

MBA Research Learning Center

Use of MBA Research modules/LAPs outside of the MBA Research Learning Center

The MBA Learning Center (LC for short) runs on Instructure's Canvas Learning Management System (LMS). We understand that some teachers may want access to our materials but would rather put that material into their school/district/state's existing LMS system rather than use ours, or that you might be proscribed from using any LMS system in your classroom other than one officially approved by your local school/district/state.

Canvas supports downloading our copyrighted modules into other systems. All of the content within the MBA Learning Center is licensed for a specified time period. Therefore, at the end of your subscription period you must either renew the subscription at then-current pricing OR permanently delete our content from your system.

We're sending you this so you're aware of our policy and to ask you to please let us know if you will or will not be moving our content out of the LC and into another LMS (either a different instance of Canvas or a completely different LMS system like Schoology or Blackboard). We also want to provide you a link to our student privacy information.

If you change your mind about moving or not moving our content from the LC, just let us know by providing a revised signed agreement.

I will NOT be moving MBA Research instructional materials from the MBA Learning Center to other systems or storage devices, including internal web sites, other LMS, or other data systems. I understand that the school and I are liable for any infringement use of these copyrighted materials and agree to pay the full purchase (not subscription) price if materials are moved without notification and agreement with MBA Research.

OR

I WILL be moving MBA Research instructional materials from the MBA Learning Center to:

- Alternate LMS
- School's password-protected web site
- Local computer or computer network
- Other: _____

AND I agree that at the end of the current subscription period I will either a) renew my subscription to the MBA Learning Center or b) permanently delete the materials from all alternate systems and devices. I understand that failure to do so is a violation of international copyright law.
